Annual Fair at Winnifred. Fatal Accident.

The annual fair of the Winnifred Agricultural Society, which will now be held on August 11th, promises to be a very successful one. Much interest has been aroused throughout the district and the entries for the fair should be numerous. In addition to the exhibits, the committee have made arrangements for a splendid program of sports, which include the following:-

Free-for-all harness race. Prizes are - 1st $15, 2nd $10, 3rd $5.

Free-for-all running race (ladies or gents). Prizes, $15, $10, $5.

Boy's Pony Race, 14 1-2 hands or under. Prizes, $5, $3.

Ladies' Pony race, 14 1-2 hands or under. Prizes, $5, $3.

Bucking Contest, contestants to furnish horses. $10, $5.

Ladies' harness race (lady to properly harness and hitch horse, and drive around round track). Prize of $5.

Holey race, 2 1-2 miles, four changes (winner take all). Purse $25.

There will also be foot races, tug-of-war, and numerous other events, the whole concluding with a big dance in the evening in the I.O.O.F. hall.

An institute meeting will be held at seven o'clock p.m., at which it is hoped there will be a good attendance. Officers of the Association will be in Winnifred on Saturday, August 12th, to receive entries, which close at nine o'clock on the morning of the fair.

The prize lists are now ready and can be obtained from the secretary, R. A. Parker.

John Edmond Conquerred, one of the most popular and widely known farmers in the district, died at the Bow Island hospital on Saturday last. The previous day (Friday) he was working at the bottom of a forty-foot well when a large mass of earth caved in and fell upon him. His brother, with the assistance of a neighbor, brought him to the surface and steps were immediately taken to procure medical assistance. This was rendered, and it was then found that he had received severe injuries to his head, to which he succumbed the following day.

The funeral took place on Monday, the arrangements being in the hands of the local Oddfellows. Service was held at the Methodist Church at two o'clock, the Rev. Bishop and Sewell officiating, and as testifying in no small degree to the great esteem and respect with which the deceased was held, the church was crowded with friends and acquaintances of the deceased family.

Immediately after the service, the funeral procession wended its way to the local cemetery, where previous to interment, a short service by the Oddfellows was gone through.

The deceased was born in Cameron County, Ontario, in 1877, and with his parents moved to Michigan in 1887, where he resided until he came west in 1890. He leaves a widow and five children. He has three brothers, Thomas, William and Robert, living here in Alberta, and a brother and sister residing in Michigan. His parents arrived here a little while ago and were visiting with their son at the time of the accident.

Help for Harvest.

Edmonton, August 2nd, 1916.

To the Editor of the Bow Island Review.

Dear Sir:-Will you kindly give publicity to the following information in regard to harvest help.

The Department of Agriculture has arranged with the railway companies to grant a rate of one cent per mile with minimum of $1.20 for harvest help, at all points within the province upon presentation of certificates signed by Mr. Charles S. Hotchkiss, Chief Publicity Commissioner, valid during the month of August.

The certificates may be obtained from Mr. J. A. Weir at Lethbridge, First Street East, Calgary, and at my office here.

Farmers requiring farm help should apply direct to the above, and to Mr. L. L. Hartman at Harcor Camp, where the Department has opened an office to assist in obtaining soldiers for harvest help.

Yours very truly,
Charles S. Hotchkiss,
Chief Publicity Commissioner.

The market which contained the remains, was covered by flowers, three beautiful wreaths being sent by the I.O.O.F. (three links), Mrs. Hans Spring and Mrs. Swennumson, and bouquets by Mrs. S. G. Jamieson, Mrs. A. Hoaglin Mrs W. P. Gorton and Mrs. E. W. Bransley.

The pall-bearers were all Oddfellows and comprised the following - Bro. G. B. Howden, Oscar Riley, J. G. Murray, S. A. D. Jordan, S. T. Elford and C. Royar.

The funeral arrangements were carried out under the supervision of Messrs. Bedell and Walsh of Bow Island.

Will Sink Test Wells in Southern Alberta.

Ottawa, Ont., July 27.-An order-in-council was passed today appropriating a considerable sum to sink test wells in Southern Alberta in expectation of securing an artesian supply of water in that district. For some time the geological department has investigated the possibility for artesian wells in Southern Alberta and have reported that there is every prospect of success in solving the water problems by this method. In boring for oil north of the Milk River an immense flow of water was struck at 900 feet. The area to be prospected will be from the international boundary north for about a hundred miles.

Will Investigate.

The Dominion grain commission will make a thorough investigation of grain exchanges and the system of inspection and marketing of grain. Sessions in this inquiry will be held this summer, and an attempt will be made to secure a thorough airing of all the methods of the exchanges and the system of inspections at present in vogue in all sections of western Canada.

There have been many complaints as to the method of running grain exchanges and as to the grain inspections, and it is the aim of the Dominion grain commission to ascertain whether or not the complaints are founded in fact.

In previous meetings of the grain commission there have been serious charges brought forth. Some times the circumstances were such that it was impossible to arrive at the true status of the charges, and for that reason the present probe will be of the strictest character, in which farmers, railways and in fact anyone

Dump Car Criticism

But Does Not Rule Russian People Not Yet Qualified to

Elect Representative to Govern
H. Hamilton Fyfe, of the London Mail paper writes from Petrograd: The Duma, the Lower House, representing the nation, is elected like our House of Commons. Its proceedings are often lively; its criticism is pungent. But the difference between it and our House of Commons must be to understand the system of government in Russia. The Duma has no power, it can criticize, but it cannot alter, it can talk, but it cannot act. Ministers are very seldom drawn from the Duma. They are under no obligation to render to it an account of their stewardship. They are responsible not to Parliament but to the Emperor. The Emperor appoints them and dismisses them. Parliament can oppose their proceedings, but it cannot turn them out. There was in the Duma a majority of 315 against and 107 in opposition to the government of M. G.

M. Sturmer, when he was appointed prime minister was unknown, even by name, to the mass of the Russian people. His name was unfamiliar to newspaper readers. It was scarcely ever mentioned. He had not been heard of for years. We are so accustomed to Prime Ministers who are leaders of parties that it is hard for us to realize that parties in Russia have little or no effect.

There is thus a "great gulf fixed" between the Ministers who act uphave no need to consider public opinion. Politicians are not steady by the knowledge that they may be called upon to practise what they preach. I explained all this to an Englishman one day. He could not grasp it. "Aren't they elected like our M. P.s?" he asked. "Well, then, they must have power. The people who elect them give it to them. What else are they elected for?" He could not clear his mind of our system. He did not understand that, as yet, "the people" in Russia have no power to give. They are, you must collect, excepting a few millions of educated persons, nothing but peasants, whose minds are as the minds of little children. They are being educated by the Zemstvoes. They have begun to read newspapers and to take an interest in public affairs. The percentage of those who can write has gone up in recent years. But they are still ignorant and simple to a degree which no one can believe.

Training a Grenadier

Present War Has Brought Back the Close Range Fighter

With cannon firing shells weighing a ton a distance of 22 miles, there was little thought that in a modern war men would exchange bombs at a distance of from 22 feet to 22 yards. But the present war, as is well known, has brought back the close range fighter in the form of the grenadier of the First Empire without a hint

The modern grenadiers are made up of the elite of the infantry. The most conscious of recruits are selected for this service, where cool-headedness, skill and strength are required. They are the prize fighter preparing for a world championship match. They are given exercise for the development of the muscles, and are drilled in the art of throwing when on the march, while lying on the ground, while kneeling, and in all other positions in which the soldier may find himself. They have to try to protect himself. They have thorough preparation in the judging of distances and throwing grenades from one trench to another. After a batch of men chosen for this work have gone through this kind of preparation, competitive trials are held and those only are selected who demonstrate that at twenty yards they can hit any sort of silhouette with a grenade.
